The most hilarious moment in life

I remember many stories from childhood, here's a funny one: It has just rained outside, the sky is still overcast, and the air smells of wet asphalt and grass. Near our house there were two high mounds, the grass around them reached to our waists, we could lie down and no one would see us. A strong wind rose and it seemed to us that this grass was like real sea waves! We quickly climbed onto the mounds and suddenly it dawned on us that these were our ships! I instantly turned into a captain, held the helm and tried to pull the whole team out of this terrible storm. My imagination was so strong that everything I described seemed to magically appear in reality. We passed sharp rocks, plowed through the sea, lost our course several times, but with the strength of the team we still reached our destination! I remember this game, this ship and the sea in such detail from my head. And these gusts of wind. Since then, this was our favorite game and when it started to rain, no one sat at home.

The event or moment I feel most proud of

In 2021, I created a book club that I had been dreaming about for a couple of months. Everything goes from idea to implementation quite quickly, but I didn't expect that there would be so many people willing! People wanted to discuss literature with me, wanted to be a part of it. As a result, I collected two! book club. Offline and online.

My most vivid memory from childhood

How my friend and I first built a house in a walnut tree. The weather was excellent and the leaves seemed to glow from within, bright green! The tree was so big and it seemed to me as if it rose very high and if you climb to the very top, you could see the whole city. Dad brought nails and boards, but I didn't want to hurt the tree so much that I burst into tears and asked not to hammer in nails. Then my mother and my grandmother sewed soft pillows for us that could be hung on branches with rubber bands and it was the most comfortable nest of my childhood.
